This astrological portrait of your child is intended to give you insight into her unique gifts and challenges. Much of a child's behavior which may puzzle or stymie her parents are quite normal, common "developmental stages" of childhood, and there are a number of fine books available on the subject which illuminate the predictable stages that children experience as they unfold. In addition to the universal patterns, each child is an individual with particular qualities, potentials, and needs, and an understanding of these can help you parent your child more wisely and effectively. Acceptance and appreciation for a child's basic nature, and an awareness of the places where there might be stress or difficulties for your child, can be important allies in your parenting.

You will find that the interpretation of your child's chart is written in simple language, uncluttered by astrological jargon. If a statement appears to contradict another statement, then she exhibits these opposite qualities at different times in her life. For example, a statement that she is highly sociable and gregarious and a statement that you prefer solitude seemingly contradict each other; this means that she vacillates, and needs both sociability and solitude at different times.

Asc ASCENDANT

The RISING SIGN in the birthchart (also known as the Ascendant) shows how this child faces life, her basic attitude or stance toward the world, the way she comes across, and how she appears to others.

Sagittarius Rising:

An eager explorer, restless wanderer, high-spirited and energetic adventurer, this child is bound to keep you on the go. Even from a very young age, she is very curious and hates to be contained in any way. As a baby, she will need a great deal of motion (bouncing, going for outings in her stroller, being carried in a backpack), and later on when she is mobile herself, you may have a hard time keeping up with her. She needs plenty of space to dance, prance, gallop, cavort, and generally release her overflowing energy. She can be quite boisterous and wild in her play and she often has no sense of self-restraint or moderation. She is a bit of a daredevil, and if it has never been done before, she wants to do it. She can also be rather overwhelming to quieter, more cautious children, but on the other hand, her liveliness and good cheer tends to be contagious. She brings out the playfulness in other people.

There is an open, welcoming friendliness about her that others find quite appealing. She seems to expect good times, and she enjoys sharing them. She likes having many playmates, and while she may have a favorite, she does not like to be limited or held back by anyone. In fact, she balks at restrictions of any kind, and finding a balance between giving her free rein to express herself and setting reasonable limits, is likely to be an ongoing challenge for you. When you want her to do something, you must enlist her cooperation and appeal to her higher instincts and strong sense of fair play. Commands and heavy displays of authority will create much resentment and resistance in her, but if you treat her with respect, she will generally respond admirably.

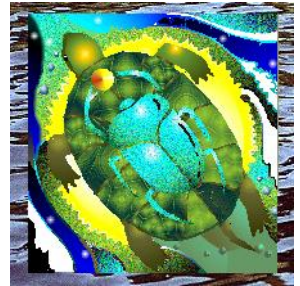

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is unflinchingly truthful, also, and her blunt honesty can be both refreshing and appalling at times. She sees right through hypocrisy and pretenses and she is not shy about pointing them out. She will probably need some gentle schooling in the art of diplomacy and of protecting people's feelings. Her good humor and good will are obvious, however, and therefore many people do not take offense at what otherwise might be a real blow!

SUN

The SUN in the birthchart represents who this child is at heart, her primary thrust in life, and what path she needs to follow in order to fulfill herself as a unique individual. It indicates who she is inside rather than the way she appears (which is shown more clearly by the Rising Sign).

Sun in Cancer:

At heart, Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is a very emotional and sympathetic person who is highly sensitive to the feeling tone and subtle atmosphere surrounding her. She cries easily and often seems swept up by the ebb and flow of constantly fluctuating emotions. She instinctively seeks a safe harbor to retreat to, a private place that feels safe and protected, which is most often her mother or her home.

She is very attached to her family and to the beloved, familiar things of home, and she may be loathe to venture away from them for very long, especially when she is quite young. A natural shyness or reticence to open herself to strangers will be in evidence quite early, and she should not be pushed into sociability or a false show of "bravery." Allow her to set her own pace in meeting the world. Though her attachment to you may be thought of as "clingy" or "overly dependent," it is best to reassure her and to very gently encourage her to overcome her fears. Eventually, given plenty of support and the knowledge that you will indeed always be there to go back to, she will leave the nest quite happily.

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt has a very nurturing, loving, protective side and she naturally responds to others' needs for comfort and care. Having pets or even a garden to tend will make her quite contented. She is also likely to be an enthusiastic chef and should be allowed to help with the cooking as much as possible. Food will always play an important role in her life, as a means to give and receive emotional sustenance as well as physical nourishment. You should take care not to substitute food for emotional comfort (i.e. "He hurt your feelings? Let's have some milk and cookies and forget all about it. . ."). This could easily become a habit of hers that would be difficult to break later in life.

In fact, the habits that she creates in childhood are likely to stay with her throughout her life, and the attitudes and behaviors she absorbs now will always influence her strongly. She has an excellent memory, also.

Sun in 8th house:

Even as a young child, Vivienne Jolie-Pitt will be intrigued by things which are mysterious, hidden, or "taboo," and she may make embarrassing or awkward inquiries about people's sex lives, finances, and other private matters--including beliefs about death and the possibility of an afterlife. If she's raised in a home where such probing curiosity is unwelcome, she'll probably become secretive; even in a fairly open and communicative atmosphere, she may keep a lot to herself. She's a deeper person than many of her contemporaries.

Sun Opposition Jupiter:

There is a great deal of playfulness and restless exuberance in this child, and it may be hard for her to contain herself, settle down, and get serious. She hates being confined, and thrives on being outside, in open spaces. She will love excursions, trips, long hikes, seeing new sights.

She also has many interests, but she can be lazy and lax about details, following through on promises, and finishing what she starts.

Sun Trine Moon:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is usually in harmony with herself and therefore she has the confidence and assurance to meet whatever obstacles she faces in life. Her home life and family relationships give her a positive feeling about herself which overflows into all other aspects of her life.

Sun Trine Uranus:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt has an independent, self-willed, and rebellious streak, and she prefers to take her own path than to follow the standard, tried-and-true methods. This means that as an adult she will be original, innovative, progressive, unafraid to be different or unconventional. As a child, she is inclined to question authority and to ignore rules when they interfere with her self expression. She is drawn to anything a little different or offbeat, and she likes to take chances.

MERCURY

MERCURY represents thinking and reasoning processes, the way your child's mind works, her intellectual inclinations and way of communicating ideas.

Mercury in Cancer:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt's mind is like a sponge, quietly absorbing the thoughts and opinions of those around her, and she has a very retentive memory. She is very subjective in her opinions and perceptions of the world; she is more intuitive than linear and rational in her thinking.

Mercury in 7th house:

This child likes to talk with people and find out how they think, and she'll follow you around the house and "talk your ears off" in an attempt to converse with you. She may be a chatterbox in school too, and the telephone may well be her favorite "toy"!

Mercury Opposition Pluto:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt holds strong opinions and convictions, and she can be quite zealous to convert people to her point of view. Sometimes she is gripped by an idea and cannot let go of it. Secrets, hidden matters, and unsolved mysteries hold a powerful fascination for her.

Mercury Sextile Mars:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt speaks her mind even if her views are controversial. She is frank, and others always know where she stands because she does not mince words. She is a convincing speaker and enjoys debating.

Mercury Sextile Saturn:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt's mental concentration, and her ability to discipline and focus her mind even on tedious details or technical subjects, is quite good. She is organized and orderly.

MOON

The MOON in the birthchart indicates how she deals with and expresses feelings, how she experiences the world on an emotional, feeling, non-verbal level, what her emotional needs are, and what she needs to feel secure, comfortable and at ease.

Moon in Scorpio:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is a creature of considerable complexity and emotional depth, but she is also very private and tends to hide her feelings away. She does not readily trust others with her innermost self, and she may have only one or two friends at a time that she feels really close to. She is inclined to have intense emotional relationships and to be deeply loyal, possessive, and attached to her loved ones. She has a fiercely territorial, protective attitude towards the people she cares about and is prone to feelings of jealousy. When she has been slighted or hurt, she may hold onto hard feelings or resentments long afterward, unless she is encouraged to talk about what happened and to let go of it. Helping this child gain a perspective on her powerful feelings, without discounting or invalidating them, is an important task for her parents. An occasional storm or eruption of pent-up emotions seems to serve as a positive release for her, and she has a dramatic side that seems to actually relish the emotional fireworks or a good fight. She goes to extremes of feeling - she loves you fervently or hates you just as intensely (and sometimes both!).

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt tends to brood, and she seems to really need to do this sometimes. Having a private place to retreat to - a place to think or dream or just be alone - would be very good for her. Her introspective or quiet side should be respected, and her dark moods are likely to lift naturally, if she is allowed to let them be, without being encouraged to "snap out of it" or to be outgoing and cheerful when she does not feel that way. A gentle touch of humor can be helpful, though, when she is taking herself too seriously.

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is also quite adept at reading other people's feelings and sensing what is going on beneath the surface of a person or situation, and she can become rather confused or mistrustful when people are pretending - saying and acting one way when they feel something else entirely. You will find there is little you can hide from her, and honesty, even if it makes you uncomfortable, is the only thing which will earn her respect and trust.

Moon in 11th house:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt feels at home when she belongs to a group, a club, or a team of some sort--an organization that serves as a second family. She thrives on group activities--such as a church youth club or a scout troop--in which she can develop long-term friendships. Such involvements will serve her best if they emphasize cooperation, support, belonging, and acceptance rather than competition.

Moon Trine Uranus:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt likes to feel very free and uninhibited, and she will enjoy taking risks, riding roller coasters, surfing, or doing other things that thrill and excite her emotionally.

She also has an independent streak, and she does not like to feel that she is under anyone's domination.

Moon Sextile Jupiter:

Fun-loving, sociable, and friendly, Vivienne Jolie-Pitt loves to entertain or to attend big social events where everyone is having a good time. She has a big heart and is very generous and open with her affections and her things.

She can be wasteful or sloppy, also, but she is so well-intentioned that it is hard to get angry with her.

VENUS

VENUS represents the way your child gives and receives affection, makes friends, and socializes. It also indicates artistic or creative inclinations.

Venus in Cancer:

A warm home, loving family relationships, and emotional closeness are extremely important to Vivienne Jolie-Pitt. When she feels secure and loved, she is one of the most caring, sympathetic, and emotionally supportive children you could imagine. But, she will cling and be very possessive or jealous if she does not feel truly loved. She is inclined to have a few close friends that she cherishes rather than a lot of acquaintances.

Venus in 8th house:

Deep feelings of attachment and closeness, along with jealousy and other strong emotions, typify Vivienne Jolie-Pitt's friendships. She may be possessive and demanding or have a close friend who acts that way toward her. She isn't breezy and casual about those she loves, and she won't give up easily on people. Even her pets are likely to be the objects of intense feelings and affections.

☉ MARS

MARS represents your child's drive, ambition, will, energy level, and ability to assert herself.

Mars in Virgo:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt can be rather timid about asserting herself. She tends to underestimate herself and to get irritated when she or others do not do everything "perfectly." Also, her energy level fluctuates, and her stamina may not be very great.

Mars in 9th house:

When it comes to her beliefs and convictions, Vivienne Jolie-Pitt will stand up for herself. She can also be self-righteous and preachy, which may be amusing to others when she's young, but not as she gets older. Having a cause or an ideal to fight for stirs her up and gets her moving as nothing else will.

Mars Conjunct Saturn:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt either lacks confidence or she feels that whenever she openly asserts herself and her desires, she gets knocked down. It is important to encourage her to go after what she wants and not to place heavy, burdensome expectations upon her. If her will is blocked consistently, she is likely to store up much anger and resentment.

JUPITER

JUPITER in the birth chart reveals the child's future aspirations, and how she seeks to grow and improve herself. It also indicates areas of natural confidence, success, or "luck."

Jupiter in Capricorn:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt will be worldly wise and uncommonly sensible and realistic, for a child. She is inherently ambitious and pragmatic, and adults may be surprised when she expresses interest in such "mature" topics as economics, office politics, and so on. Her future aspirations include being successful in very concrete terms, and she wants to know the rules so she can "play the game" well.

A gift for and interest in money can be encouraged by setting up a bank account for which she is responsible and teaching her about buying and selling when she accompanies you on errands. She also naturally understands the value of discipline and delaying gratification for some future benefit (i.e., "If we don't buy ice cream for a week, we can all go to the carnival on Saturday.")

Jupiter in 1st house:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt tends to be fortunate because of the positive first impression she makes on both other children and adults. Instinctively she puts her best foot forward, and comes across as a confident, open person who can afford to be generous to others. She'll want to participate in a lot of extracurricular activities, and be well known and popular at school and in the community. She could be "a big fish in a small pond" too.

■ SATURN

The position of SATURN in your child's birth chart indicates the areas in which she is especially insecure, about which she is most serious, and/or in which she works hardest or is hardest on herself. It also reveals those weaknesses which, through effort, may become her greatest strengths.

Saturn in Virgo:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt tends to be a perfectionist, with very exacting standards for herself and the people around her. Like Beatrix Potter's Mrs. Tittlemouse, she can be a "terribly tidy particular little person," fretting over details that less discerning souls easily overlook. When she is a very young child, her family may find this humorous or endearing as she chides the grown ups to arrange her shoes "just so" in the closet or put the postage stamp on the envelope in exactly the right place. To the sibling who shares a bedroom with her, however, this may not seem so very charming.

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt has a penchant for dissecting, scrutinizing, analyzing, organizing, categorizing, and obsessing over minutiae because she wants to "get it right." When she turns this acutely critical eye on herself, she condemns her own failings and perceives blemishes that others scarcely notice. Because of this perception, a feeling of "not good enough" could become chronic. She's easily shamed: A harsh word or a withering look can engender enormous feelings of inferiority or worthlessness, though she may not appear to be affected. Nothing escapes this one! She's relentlessly observant.

Parents, teachers, coaches, and others who supervise her development would do well to encourage her to take a more relaxed and accepting attitude toward mistakes and failures and to strive for a broader perspective. (If she doesn't turn in her homework assignment precisely on time, it will probably not RUIN HER LIFE.)

Minor health problems can arise from her worry and anxiety over her work and her performance. If she can relax just a little, all this can become an asset. She does, after all, handle details--facts, data, trivia--extremely well, and her powers of observation, organization, and analysis will be great advantages in her studies and, later, in her work.

Saturn in 9th house:

Accepting other people's beliefs, faith, or outlook on life won't always be easy for Vivienne Jolie-Pitt. Unless she's encouraged to be tolerant and open-minded, she may limit her experience considerably because of this lack of imagination or inability to visualize different ways of seeing and doing things. Becoming personally acquainted with people whose cultures or religions differ from her own can help to break down barriers and prevent the development of a narrow, insular attitude.

♋ MOON'S NODES ♎

The Lunar Nodes are points formed by the moon's orbit around the Earth intersecting with the Earth's path around the Sun. These sensitive "power points" in our child's chart give vital information about those areas of life experience that she will instinctively be drawn to in order to fulfill her life purposes, as well as qualities she needs to develop and express in order to do so. They show where she can be most successful as she unfolds her natural talent

North Node in 2nd House in Aquarius:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt's life path has very much to do with learning how to satisfy her own basic needs for security, developing her own values, and appreciating the true worth of things. Learning how to manage money (even a small allowance), how to share what she has (and when not to), and experiencing the joy of pursuing what she truly values and loves simply for the pleasure of it (and letting rewards come as a natural result of that) are key lessons. It may be important not to force her to share or "co-own" her toys or other possessions before she feels ready to. She may cling to certain beloved things (a special piece of clothing, stuffed animals or blanket for instance) for quite a while before she's ready to go without it. She has a natural talent for the practical side of life and her destiny is to master the proper use of resources. Her basic question is what is worth cherishing and keeping and what can be given up or eliminated.

The qualities Vivienne Jolie-Pitt needs in order to succeed in this endeavor are experimentation and the willingness to be different or perhaps unconventional.

♋ GENERATIONAL INFLUENCES ♎

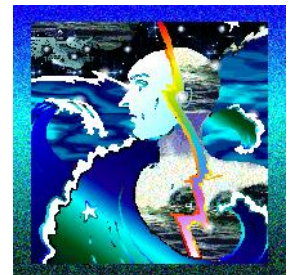

The slow-moving planets Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto represent the ideals, changes, and impulses of an entire generation. While the descriptions below may or may not describe your child as an individual, they will tell you about the climate of the times and the underlying issues and challenges of your child's age group.

For instance, when Neptune (which represents one's spiritual ideals, dreams, aspirations, fantasies and illusions) passed through the egalitarian and harmony-loving sign of Libra (from 1943-1957), the children who would grow into the "flower children," hippies, and supporters of the peace movement were born. Not every person born during that time became a hippie or identified themselves with the peace movement, but certainly they were affected by the feeling-tone and ideals of their age group and the times they grew up in. Thus, the following information is intended to give you insight into the important motifs and issues of your child's generation.

URANUS indicates where the impulse for change, innovation, liberation from the past, and experimentation with new forms is the strongest. It is where the status quo is disrupted or uprooted to make way for something new. Sudden inspiration and invention are also represented by Uranus.

Uranus in Pisces:

Those of this age group (2004-2012) have creative genius, unusual inspiration, and visionary ideals. Their art, music, literature, and lifestyles will be unusual or strange to others, and they have a rather unstable and impractical bent. They are inclined to be discontented with the ways of the world, but without a strong desire to make positive reforms in a practical way. Traditional religion does not suit them either, and they will experiment with their own personal forms of mystical experience.

Uranus in 3rd house:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt thinks and learns in unusual ways. Her mind is inspired and she grasps concepts whole, but it may be difficult for her to understand or explain her ideas in a linear way. She is interested in new thought and leading edge ideas in any field. Quick, lively, active presentations of material, and an approach that encourages her to think for herself and invent new solutions will work best for her.

NEPTUNE represents the quest for the ideal, the dream, for something more sublime. The sign it is passing through at the time of one's birth colors one's spiritual aspirations and ideals, and also indicates where the desire to escape reality, to fantasize, deceive oneself, and become lost in illusion is the strongest.

Neptune in Aquarius:

This group harbors great hopes for world unity and universal brother and sisterhood. An inner group impulse toward collective awakening and a strongly futuristic, visionary, evolutionary "dream". On the other hand, increasing globalization and impersonalization of daily life is strongly at work in their lives. How to contribute to the whole without becoming a cog in the machine is their quest.

Neptune in 2nd house:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt is not a very materialistic person at heart, and may be wholly impractical when it comes to money and/or taking care of her belongings. She can be generous to a fault and give away her things if she believes another person could use them. It would be wise to encourage balance, moderation, and responsibility in this area, while not squelching her compassionate impulses. How the world functions in practical terms is likely to be something of a mystery to her and it would be quite helpful if she is taught some of the basics while she is young.

PLUTO in the birth chart indicates a process of deep change, transformation, and renewal, often through destruction or confrontation with darkness. This is a process that takes place in society as well as in individuals. Pluto's position in the birth chart shows where one is compulsive, extreme, or learning key life lessons.

Pluto in Sagittarius:

For those born at this time, the order of business is the destruction of old, limiting concepts, philosophies, religious forms, and ideas about God or the nature of the Universe. At the same time, religious fanatics, extremists, and evangelical fundamentalists of many persuasions are likely to rise up quite strongly. There may be much conflict between those with powerful convictions of one kind or another.

Pluto in 1st house:

Vivienne Jolie-Pitt can be quite a force to be reckoned with as she embodies and identifies with many of the characteristics described above. She takes life and herself quite seriously and throws herself into her activities with her whole heart and soul. Her quiet intensity and wilfulness may put some people off at times. One thing to remember with this child is that she may not "smile for the camera" when you want her to.
